SECTION 2	RESPONSES
What would your top three priorities be if elected as Attorney General?	"1. Depoliticize the office by enforcing the laws passed by the General Assembly, including all pro-life measures; 2. Focus on the drug epidemic, by increasing the number of drug investigators; and 3. Establish a presence of the office outside of Louisville and Frankfort."	"1. Defend Pro-Life legislation. 2. Work with law enforcement and prosecutors to combat the drug epidemic. 3. Protect Kentuckians' Constitutional Rights, including the Second Amendment."
Recent Attorneys General have not defended some Kentucky laws. What will you do when asked to defend a law with which you disagree?	"My guiding principle will be the Constitution, state and federal, and the oath that I take to uphold and enforce the laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky."	"My compass for defending legislation will be the Constitution and the law. I will not pick and choose which laws I like based on political concerns but will rather defend the laws that the General Assembly passes."
As Attorney General, what new efforts would you make to combat illegal drug use and trafficking in Kentucky?	"I will increase the number of drug investigators in the office. I will work closely with the Trump-appointed federal prosecutors who have jurisdiction in Kentucky to ensure that our prosecutorial priorities are aligned and focused on ridding Kentucky of traffickers."	"As the only candidate in the Republican primary who has actually been a prosecutor, I will work with prosecutors and law enforcement to address this problem. I will also work with our President and support tougher border security."
In your opinion, can new forms of gambling expand into Kentucky without a constitutional amendment?	"No."	"No, I believe that a change to Kentucky's Constitution would be required."

What are your recommendations for trimming the budget and cutting government waste?	“The AG must be careful about wasteful spending as it relates to suing the governor and General Assembly, especially on pro-life measures. I will approach every matter that comes before my office with that consideration in mind.”	“I would look at all the departments within the office of Attorney General and see where cuts could be made. I also believe that placing a stronger emphasis on Medicaid fraud would save the Commonwealth substantially.”
If elected, what do you see as the most important issue you will face in the next four years?	“The drug epidemic is the most important issue. Per the most recent data, Kentucky lost 1,565 individuals to drug overdoses. Kentucky needs an AG who will reestablish this office as the Chief Law Enforcement Office.”	“Defending Pro-Life legislation will be a top priority as Attorney General. When it comes to Pro-Life legislation, I have a 100% voting record in the Kentucky State Senate and have carried Pro-Life bills from the House on the Senate floor.”
After four years, what will your office have accomplished to improve life in Kentucky?	“We will have stood up for the rights of the unborn. We will have established a visible presence of the AG’s office outside of Frankfort and Louisville. We will have made significant advances in the fight against the drug epidemic.”	“In 4 years, voters will see that I kept my promises and defended Pro-life legislation, helped combat the drug epidemic, stood up for their Constitutional rights, including their Second Amendment rights, and fought back against Federal overreach.”
What strengths do you possess that make you the best candidate for this office?	“I believe in servant leadership. The AG should serve the public safety interests of all Kentuckians in all 120 counties. That coupled with my hard work ethic make me well-suited to be the AG into the coming decade.”	“I am the only candidate who has been a prosecutor. As Kentucky’s Chief Law Enforcement Officer and top prosecutor, it is crucial that we elect someone who has the right experience. I will be ready to lead on day one.”
Why would you be more effective in this office than your opponent?	“While Senator McConnell’s general counsel, I worked closely with Kentucky Law Enforcement. I have established very strong relationships with that community, giving me an advantage in reestablishing the credibility of the office as the Chief Law Enforcement Office.”	“It appears that the majority of my opponent’s practice is focused on lobbying. I have the right experience as a former prosecutor. In addition to being a State Senator, I currently work with cities and counties on public finance law matters.”
To know you more personally, what issue(s), unrelated to the office you seek, are you passionate about?	“I am very passionate about Christians engaging in the market place and in the public square. As believers, we should be actively engaged in public life and in the market place, so that our values are represented in public dialogue.”	“My Christian faith and spending time with my family are two of the most important things in my life. Our children, Grace and Trey, serve as a constant reminder of what is at stake for Kentucky’s future and this office.”
